GARY HOLMES

LOCAL 933
PRESIDENT

Sisters and Brothers,

The National Labor Relations Act (NLRA) of 1935 was signed into law by President Franklin Roosevelt, also known as the Wagner Act. It gave us a legal right to organize. Section 7 of the NLRA specifically states: Employees shall have the right to self-organization..., [and] to bargain collectively. The Wagner Act gave unions legal grounds to stand on. The right to organize is grounded in our natural right to free association which is memorialized in the First Amendment to the United States Constitution.

Belonging to a union gives us a voice and power to improve our working conditions, wages and benefits that our members enjoy. The UAW continues to be instrumental in the growth of the American middle class and workers shared prosperity. Union's help enforce workers' legal rights. The truth is, unions have been at the forefront of every worker protection throughout the history of this nation and without unions, employers would do whatever they could to exploit workers, regardless of age, gender, physical impairment, and with absolutely no regard for a worker's personal wellbeing.

There has been a huge surge in organizing efforts across our nation. More and more nonunionized workers are showing interest. We have had several people this year contact us here at the local about union organizing. Do you have a friend, family member or acquaintance that may be interested in us helping them organize a union in their workplace? They can contact us here at the local union hall or go to CONTACT UNION ORGANIZING <https://uaw.org/organize/contact-uaw-organizing/>. We have an organizing committee here at Local 933 with 15 committee members. I just recently appointed Zachary Boyd as the Chairperson of this committee. Along with the UAW Region 2B Leadership, Zach and I will be working on educating/teaching our organizing committee to make it more effective and productive.

OPEIU Local 98 (office workers and maintenance staff at Local 933 union hall) has reached a new 4-year agreement with UAW Local 933. ABM workers (housekeeping/contract workers inside ATI) have also reached a new agreement and will open their contract up in 12 months to negotiate more on wages/other economics only. Congratulations to both of them in obtaining new collective bargaining agreements.

Brother Larry Robinson from the UAW International Civil and Human Rights department did an outstanding job teaching a class here at the Local on May 6th which was attended by our Civil and Human Rights Committee and some of our bargaining persons. I appreciate their efforts in protecting all of our members civil and human rights within the work place.

Our Community Service Committee volunteered their time to participate in "Love Where You Are" Community Cleanup on April 26th and 27th here in Wayne Township. In 2023, 450 volunteers and 25 organizations collected two tons of waste from our roadsides and waterways. UAW Local 933 and Wayne Township Trustee, Jeb Bardon became Community Champions by hosting a cleanup. "Love Where You Are" is a grassroots movement registered with the City of Indianapolis. For more information go to their website: <https://lovethis.city/>.

The Indiana Sheriff's Youth Ranch located in Brazil, Indiana will be having a ribbon cutting on the UAW Youth Cabin scheduled for May 19th. More details and photos will be forthcoming in the next issue of the Rocket.

I'd like to welcome all of our new members here at Local 933. Remember to keep an eye on the union bulletin boards and the website <https://local933.com/> for our upcoming events.

In Solidarity,

Gary Holmes, President UAW Local 933

Growing The UAW

The UAW has made some terrific in roads to organizing in southern states that have, in the past, been very difficult to unionize. Recently we have seen the Volkswagen facilities in Chattanooga, Tennessee vote and become a UAW union facility. On April 17, 2024, workers stood up and of the 3,600 hourly employees, 73% voted yes. When the Big Three negotiated their contracts that improved workers' pay and benefits as well as eliminating tiers, workers across the United States took notice. Mercedes-

Benz workers in Alabama will vote on becoming UAW May 13-17 and hopefully by the time you read this article, they will be UAW union brothers and sisters with us. President Fain and the newly elected executive board have certainly made great changes and the organizing efforts have become priority number one. Congratulations also to Auburn Hill Manufacturing who also voted 63% to become UAW.

I wanted to give a big shout out to Jeff Jones and David Ortel who attended the 2024 LUCA (Local Unions Communication Association) Conference in April at Black Lake and received a second place for their efforts producing award winning Rocket publications. Two consecutive Rocket publications were submitted to the UAW Excellence in Communication Contest. This award was given based on an overall quality (writing, design, layout, use of photos, cartoons and graphics). Thank you both for all you do in making UAW Local 933 look so good.

Memorial Day 2024 will be celebrated on Monday, May 27. The Holiday gives us all a chance to remember those Military personnel who made the greatest sacrifice to ensure the freedom, we hold so dear. Take the time on this UAW negotiated paid holiday to reflect and be thankful. It is now our responsibility to fight for those freedoms and to uphold what makes the U.S.A. the greatest country in the world. The elected and appointed thank all our members active and retired for all you do. Please have a safe and enjoyable Memorial Day holiday.

UNITING AUTO WORKERS IN THE SOUTH

For several years, the United Auto Workers Union had been aiming to organize foreign automakers on American soil, but it wasn't until April 19, 2024, that they finally achieved favorable results.

Volkswagen, fondly known as VW, set an unprecedented example by being the first to challenge the deeply entrenched practices of the southern states. Their remarkable determination and unwavering unity were clearly demonstrated by their ability to mobilize over 80% of the plant's population in their dedicated pursuit of unionization representation.

This significant accomplishment served as a steppingstone for Volkswagen, leading to their integration into the esteemed United Auto Workers family, where they became an integral and valued part. The VW family participated in the voting process, with a total of 3,613 ballots cast. Among these, 2,628 individuals voted in favor of being represented by UAW, whereas 985 individuals voted against union representation.

To delve into the UAW's historical challenges, let's take a quick trip down memory lane to 2014 and 2019. During these years, the UAW encountered obstacles while trying to establish itself in Chattanooga, TN, in partnership with VW.

However, the members of VW (now UAW Local 42) in Chattanooga have since taken a strong stance and are now saying, "It's time to stand up." This decision comes after witnessing the record-breaking contracts of the Big 3 and other UAW-represented facilities, like the UAW Local 933/Allison Transmission Division.

The UAW's plans for organizing in the southern United States extend far beyond VW; that's just the initial step in their ambitious agenda. May 13, 2024, is a significant date for the nearly 5,200 employees working at the Mercedes-Benz plant in Vance, AL, as they will have an exclusive opportunity to become part of the UAW Family. However, it's important to emphasize that our influence extends far beyond this specific event.

Shawn Fain, the UAW International President, is energetically working to broaden the UAW's impact by forging ties with a range of foreign automakers, including BMW, Honda, Nissan, Subaru, Toyota, and Volvo. Fain's determination can be felt in the charged atmosphere, as he strives to expand the UAW's reach and influence across the globe.

While we commemorate the UAW victories, it is essential to recognize and give thanks to the UAW Organizing Teams that have tirelessly dedicated themselves to the cause, working long hours, traveling extensively, knocking on doors, making phone calls, and putting in the effort on the ground.

The UAW Organizing Team had already established a strong presence in the field well before the world audience took notice and celebrated the UAW's achievement in organizing VW. The Team has faced numerous obstacles, including years of no votes, lack of interest, aggressive union-busting rhetoric, and political threats from politicians in red states. However, they have skillfully navigated through these challenges and ultimately achieved a victorious outcome with the vote at VW. Now they are eagerly working towards replicating this success with Mercedes-Benz and other foreign automakers.

E S

This past year the UAW has seen an unprecedented amount of leadership and public support under the new leadership of Shawn Fain. The UAW has gone on to win record contracts holding the fat cat corporations to better wages and quality of life for their employees. But until recently, only current members have been reaping the rewards of the UAW's hard work and hard-line approach to negotiations. Now that the current contract season has started to wain there has been a new initiative set forth by leadership. An initiative of organizing. A successful initiative. Through its hard work the UAW was able to pierce the red wall of the southern states where it had previously been nigh impossible to organize.

Organizing involves several key steps. Build worker support, navigate legal requirements, and achieve formal recognition. You can't organize alone. Start by building a team of coworkers from every department and shift. That team then discusses their interests in unionizing and identifying concerns. Health and safety, wages, and benefits are usually the top areas of concern. Assign good leadership. Choose a person or persons that are respected in the work place to head up the organizing effort. To help, reach out to the UAW for guidance and support.

The team should then work to educate workers about the benefits of unionization. Be respectful of other coworkers. Hold meetings and distribute literature to build support. Use the people that can get info distributed across your facility quickly like truck drivers and team leads. Track your network. Who has signed union cards to indicate their desire for union representation? With 30% of your work force with signed cards, go public. Organizing isn't achieved in the dark, be visible and be vocal. Once 50% of your work force has signed union cards it's time to hold a rally. Then finally once 70% of the workers sign a union card a petition is filed with the National Labor Relations Board (NLRB) to request a formal election.

During the election campaign, both the union and the employer present their cases to the workers. Exploit management's decisions. Management causing unrest among coworkers? Use that to your advantage to rally coworkers together. It is often said that management is the best organizer. If a majority of workers vote in favor of the union in a secret ballot election conducted by the NLRB, the union is certified as their official representative. The next step is negotiating a collective bargaining agreement with the employer, which outlines wages, benefits, and working conditions. Once an agreement is reached and ratified by union members, the union works to ensure the employer adheres to the contract and continues to engage with workers to address ongoing concerns.

Only through standing together can we hope to achieve all we deserve as the working class in America. Please treat all your union brothers and sisters with the same respect that you would want shown to you because if they divide us we will surely fall.
